

Bristol, 6 March 2020

To whom it might concern,

We are in possession of the files from the International Conference on Metamaterials and Nanophotonics (METANANO 2019), 15-19 July 2019, St. Petersburg, Russian Federation.

A volume has been allocated to the files, this is volume 1461 in Journal of Physics: conference Series (JPCS).

Information about the journal can be found through the following link:

<https://iopscience.iop.org/journal/1742-6596>

The publication process has many stages and we aim at releasing access to the guest editors around 18 March 2020 at which point they will have the opportunity to check the files thoroughly before they are published online. Depending on the amount of issues at that stage the volume should be published in a space of 2-7 days after we receive notification of any amendments or instead that the volume is ready for publication.

Papers accepted are found in the attached spreadsheet.

Kind regards

Anete
